

InCapta, Inc. to Produce its First Original TV Movie for Release in 2017 with Actor Nick Mancuso Directing.

SAN DIEGO CA- December 5, 2016 - InCapta, Inc (OTC PINK: INCT) ----- InCapta, Inc., in association with Mancuso Martin Productions, plans to produce its first original TV movie, a comedy, entitled “Brother Gulf Stream 10.” Hollywood actor Nick Mancuso will direct and also appear in the film, slated for release in 2017. The film features a wayward TV evangelist who can’t fleece the flock often enough as he tries to rein in those who surround him while living the wild life in a high-flying evangelical lifestyle.

Mr. Mancuso has won numerous film festivals and various awards for acting, including a Genie Award for his role in “Ticket to Heaven” and he brings many other actors from Hollywood with him to Mancuso Martin Productions and to InCapta, Inc. Mancuso Martin Productions has a full slate of screenplays set to follow “Brother Gulf Stream 10.”

Nick Mancuso of Mancuso Martin Productions said, “A bubbling comedy written by Greg Martin dealing with zany religious hypocrisy in the context of the 3 Stooges meets a modern-day Tom Sawyer who has sinned and just loves it, until the chickens come home to roost and teach him a much-deserved lesson. You can fool some of the people all of the time, you can fool all the people some the time, but you can’t make an omelet by pretending to lay a golden egg. Funny and entertaining old-fashioned comedy with riotous characters and all too recognizable political and religious hypocrites!

I look forward to acting and directing in what I think will warm the cockles of the heart while providing much needed belly laughs for the whole family.”

Greg Martin, President of InCapta, Inc, said, “Nick Mancuso has over 150 films to his credit on IMDB but that only tells half his story. Mr. Mancuso is also a talented writer and producer and has appeared in over 300 films worldwide, including the cult classic, “Under Siege” with Steven Seagal. He has several hit TV series to his credit, including the hit NBC series “Stingray”, “Matrix” and “The Firm.” We’re very pleased to work with one of the finest actors in Hollywood and we believe that a number of our projects will impact the film industry and entertainment audiences, worldwide.”

About Nick Mancuso

During his four decade career, films included the Apocalypse trilogy produced by Cloud Ten Pictures (Revelation (1999), Tribulation(2000) and Judgment (2001)), and TV has him best known for his starring roles in the NBC action series Stingray (1985), which ran for two seasons, and as the title hitman who becomes a target himself in the one-season Matrix (1993).

Mr. Mancuso was drawn to various Canadian theatre groups in the 1970s and became artistic director for the Vancouver Playhouse Theatre, while building his classical resume at the Stratford Shakespeare Festival.

TV and film soon came his way in the late 1970s, and he landed roles both in Hollywood, first as TV's Dr. Scorpion (1978), and back in Canada, where he won the prestigious Genie award for the movie Ticket to Heaven (1981) as a man caught up in a religious cult. He impressed moviegoers as well with his moody, sexy presence in the US film Heartbreakers (1984) co-starring Peter Coyote and has also provided solid support for other stars, notably for Steven Seagal in one of that star's best action thrillers Under Siege (1992).

A sturdy name as an anti-hero or heavy in modestly-budgeted independents, Mr. Mancuso has proven over the years to be a solid, durable player. More recently, post-millennium gritty films include Time of Fear (2002) Today You Die (2005), starring his "Under Siege" cohort Steven Seagal, Contract Killers (2008), Violent Blue (2011), Entity (2013) and The Big Fat Stone (2014).
